Defendant/Counter-Plaintiff's Emergency Motion for Interim Housing Relief and Replacement of Medical Equipment

TO THE HONORABLE COURT:

Defendant Kathryn M. Copeland respectfully moves this Court for an emergency order providing interim housing relief and authorizing replacement of medically necessary equipment, and in support shows:

I. NATURE OF THE EMERGENCY

- A. Since July 14, 2025, Defendant has been displaced from her apartment into temporary housing. Plaintiffs funded hotel lodging through October 27, 2025, then terminated housing assistance despite unresolved habitability and disability-accommodation issues. (Ex. IR-7 ¶¶ 2–3)
- B. Defendant is currently without stable, medically appropriate housing and without access to medically necessary equipment removed by Plaintiffs' agents on September 22, 2025. (Ex. IR-7 ¶ 4)

- C. Defendant's treating physician, Dr. Isabel Huang, M.D., states: "Without immediate accommodations, Ms. Copeland's health could continue to deteriorate, preventing her from recovering and participating effectively in her case." (Ex. IR-1).
- D. Expert designations are due January 9, 2026. Defendant cannot meet imminent litigation obligations without basic medical stabilization and housing. (Ex. IR-7 ¶ 8)
- E. This Court has inherent authority to enter interim orders necessary to preserve its jurisdiction by ensuring a party remains able to participate meaningfully in the proceedings.
- F. Defendant attempted in good faith to resolve these issues without court intervention. (Ex. IR-6; December 2, 2025 correspondence outlining requested accommodations, contents handling, and proposed alternatives). Plaintiffs did not respond, necessitating emergency relief.

II. IMMEDIATE IRREPARABLE HARM

A. Medical Deterioration from Environmental Exposure

Dr. Huang documents that Defendant has been under her care since October 8, 2024, for management of Hypermobile Ehlers-Danlos Syndrome (hEDS), Histamine overload, Mast Cell Activation Syndrome (MCAS), and Postural Orthostatic Tachycardia Syndrome (POTS)—conditions that "significantly impair her daily functioning and her reported ability to participate in legal proceedings without accommodations." (Ex. IR-1, p. 1)

Since Dr. Huang's last evaluation on September 10, 2025, Defendant's health has continued to decline. Dr. Huang reports:

- "On December 4, 2025, she attended a court hearing in person, and the physical strain and environmental exposure reportedly triggered a severe flare-up that has significantly worsened her symptoms of pain, weakness, and fatigue." (Ex. IR-1, p. 1)
- Defendant is "often bedridden for extended periods, unable to perform basic tasks or care for herself." (Ex. IR-1, p. 1)
- Defendant experiences "persistent fatigue and post-exertional malaise," "severe systemic inflammation," "severe gastrointestinal impairment: ongoing nutritional instability and weight loss," and "immune dysfunction and flare-ups" characterized by "systemic inflammation, fatigue, and gastrointestinal distress, leaving her unable to function for days at a time." (Ex. IR-1, pp. 1-2)

This is documented proof that environmental triggers and stress from proceedings cause measurable medical harm. Defendant's current inability to reliably perform basic tasks or maintain safe living conditions further demonstrates imminent harm. (Ex. IR-7 ¶¶ 2, 8)

A cold front with below-freezing temperatures and high winds is forecast to arrive in the Dallas–Fort Worth area on December 29, 2025. (Ex. IR-7 ¶ 9; Ex. IR-5)¹ Cold exposure predictably worsens Defendant's symptoms and increases risk of prolonged incapacity. (Ex. IR-7 ¶ 9; Ex. IR-5)

B. Spoliation of Medical Equipment

On September 22, 2025, Plaintiffs' agents removed all of Defendant's belongings without her knowledge, consent, or a court order. Dr. Huang documents:

"The removal of her possessions, including essential medical supplies, on September 22, 2025, has left her without access to critical items necessary for managing her health. These items have not been returned or cleaned, and given Ms. Copeland's severe sensitivities to environmental triggers, including mold, it is my professional opinion that all of her contaminated belongings must be replaced to ensure her safety and prevent further health deterioration." (Ex. IR-7, p. 1)

C. Housing Insecurity

Defendant is currently:

- Without stable housing (since October 27, 2025, when Plaintiffs cut off hotel payments)
- Unable to access climate control and air filtration (medically necessary)
- Unable to maintain mold-free environment (medically contraindicated)
- At times separated from her two minor children due to lack of family-sized accommodation

Defendant remains without stable, medically appropriate housing. (Ex. IR-7 ¶¶ 2–3, 8)

III. LEGAL STANDARD FOR INTERIM RELIEF

The Court may grant temporary injunctive relief upon establishing: (1) probable right to recovery; (2) imminent, irreparable harm; (3) no adequate remedy at law; and (4) balance of hardships favors the movant. Butnaru v. Ford Motor Co., 84 S.W.3d 198, 205 (Tex. 2002).

All four factors are satisfied:

Factor	Defendant's Evidence
Probable Right to Recovery	Property Code § 92.056 (duty to repair); Fair Housing Act § 3604(f)(3)(B) (reasonable accommodation); Constructive eviction; Conversion; Negligence
Imminent, Irreparable Harm	Health deterioration documented by UT Southwestern physician; no safe housing; medical equipment removed and not replaced (Ex. IR-1)
No Adequate Remedy at Law	Cannot wait for trial judgment; health deteriorating NOW; judgment becomes meaningless if Defendant is incapacitated
Balance of Hardships	Plaintiffs already paid $20,487/month; Defendant requests 12% less; granting relief prevents permanent disability; denying relief guarantees irreversible harm

IV. REASONABLENESS: PLAINTIFFS' OWN EXPENDITURES ESTABLISH THE STANDARD

A. What Plaintiffs Already Paid

B. Plaintiffs' insurer represented in writing on August 15, 2025 that substitute housing would continue "until remediation is completed." Plaintiffs have since acknowledged that remediation remains ongoing. Defendant offers this representation not as an independent claim, but as further confirmation that substitute housing was understood by all parties to be medically and practically necessary pending completion of remediation.

Plaintiffs paid for Defendant's housing September 28 – October 27, 2025:

- Worthington Hotel: $17,937.19 (Ex. IR-2)
- Dog boarding (30 days): $2,550 (Ex. IR-3)
- Combined monthly cost: $20,487

This was for single-occupancy housing with no children, no pets in-home, no kitchen, and no medical equipment storage.

C. Defendant's Medically Anchored Request

Defendant requests $18,000 per month to secure housing that satisfies the minimum requirements identified by her treating physician and necessitated by her documented disabilities, including:

1. Mold/trigger-free housing with no known moisture intrusion, consistent with Dr. Huang's directive that Defendant requires "safe housing that is clean and free from environmental triggers." (Ex. IR-1, p. 2).
2. Climate control and air filtration capability to reduce environmental exposure and prevent medical flares. (Ex. IR-1, p. 2).

3. Kitchen access and/or reliable meal delivery capability due to documented fatigue and gastrointestinal impairment and the need for stable nutrition during flare-ups. (Ex. IR-1, p. 2).
4. Adequate space for family occupancy and medical functionality (Defendant and two minor children) including room for medically necessary equipment. (Ex. IR-1, p. 2).
5. Pet-permissive tenancy (two household animals/ESAs) to avoid repeated displacement and preserve stability.

Defendant has identified move-in-ready options that meet the minimum medical and functional requirements and can proceed promptly upon entry of an order authorizing controlled disbursement.” (Ex. IR-7 ¶ 10)

Defendant’s request reflects a conservative continuation of the substitute housing Plaintiffs themselves implemented, at 12% less than the approximately $20,487 per month Plaintiffs already paid for single-occupancy lodging that lacked kitchen access, family accommodation, and in-home medical functionality.

V. “LEASE EXPIRED” DOES NOT DEFEAT INTERIM RELIEF

Plaintiffs may argue they owe no interim relief because the lease ended or was “nonrenewed.” That contention does not bar temporary injunctive relief for at least four independent reasons:

- A. Merits issue reserved for trial. Whether the lease was validly nonrenewed, terminated, or constructively ended is disputed in Defendant’s counterclaims and will be tried on the merits. It is not a basis to deny interim relief necessary to prevent irreparable harm. Texas law recognizes that when uninhabitable conditions force a tenant to vacate and remediation is not completed, constructive eviction terminates ongoing lease obligations. Hamaker v. Newman, 641 S.W.3d 867, 873–74 (Tex. App.—Fort Worth 2022, pet. denied).

- B. Tort and statutory duties are independent of lease expiration. Defendant seeks interim relief based on Plaintiffs’ alleged tortious conduct and statutory violations (including habitability and disability-accommodation obligations). Lease “expiration” does not extinguish liability or a court’s equitable power to prevent ongoing irreparable harm.
- C. Retaliation/nonrenewal theory is part of the dispute, not a defense to emergency relief. Defendant contends the asserted nonrenewal was issued after reports of unsafe conditions and disability-related requests and is contested as retaliatory and/or otherwise unlawful in Defendant’s counterclaims.
- D. Spoliation foreclosed self-mitigation. Plaintiffs’ agents removed Defendant’s medically necessary equipment and other property on September 22, 2025. Plaintiffs cannot create the conditions preventing stabilization and then rely on “lease expiration” to argue Defendant must mitigate without the basic tools to do so.
- E. Plaintiffs’ prior substitute housing expenditures confirm necessity and reasonableness of interim relief. After Defendant was displaced from the unit, Plaintiffs themselves funded substitute housing and related displacement costs. That conduct reflects a practical acknowledgment that alternative housing was necessary to prevent harm while habitability issues remained unresolved. Defendant now seeks a reduced continuation of that substitute housing mechanism—structured through a controlled payment method—solely to preserve medical stability and allow meaningful participation in these proceedings pending final judgment or further order of the Court.

VI. LEGAL BASIS FOR INTERIM RELIEF

A. Court's Inherent Power to Preserve Jurisdiction

The Court has inherent authority to issue orders necessary to preserve its own jurisdiction. A party who deteriorates into incapacity cannot be a meaningful participant in litigation. Preserving Defendant's health is a procedural necessity, not a discretionary favor.

This motion does not ask the Court to adjudicate lease enforceability, rent liability, or damages. It asks only that the Court prevent foreseeable, irreparable harm during the pendency of this suit.

B. Statutory Authority

- Texas Property Code § 92.0563: "The court...may order...other relief the court determines appropriate."
- Fair Housing Act, 42 U.S.C. § 3604(f)(3)(B): Housing providers must make reasonable accommodations when necessary to afford a person with a disability equal opportunity to use and enjoy a dwelling.

C. Dr. Huang's Medical Opinion Establishes Necessity

Dr. Huang explicitly recommends:

1. "Safe Housing: Ms. Copeland requires immediate access to safe housing that is clean and free from environmental triggers, such as mold and allergens. Stable housing is critical for her recovery..." (Ex. IR-1, p. 2)

2. "Replacement of Contaminated Belongings:... it is my professional opinion that all contaminated belongings must be replaced to ensure her safety and prevent further health deterioration." (Ex. IR-1, p. 2)
3. "Access to Essential Items" including:
 - "An air purifier to reduce exposure to allergens and irritants"
 - "An adjustable bed to support her joints and manage pain during extended periods of rest which she previously owned"
 - "Heat therapy and infrared therapy devices to alleviate chronic pain and improve circulation"
 - "Meal assistance or access to meal delivery services to ensure proper nutrition during periods of fatigue and pain" (Ex. IR-1, p. 2)

These are not preferences. They are documented medical necessities prescribed by a treating physician at a major academic medical center.

VII. RELIEF REQUESTED

A. Interim Housing Relief

Defendant does not seek a new or expanded obligation, but continuation—at a reduced rate—of the interim housing accommodation Plaintiffs themselves implemented after acknowledging the unit was uninhabitable.

Defendant respectfully requests that the Court order Plaintiffs to fund interim housing in the amount of $18,000 per month, payable through a controlled mechanism, pending final judgment or further order of the Court.

Plaintiffs previously funded alternative housing and related displacement costs at a rate of approximately $20,487 per month. Defendant's request for $18,000 per month reflects a reasonable, conservative continuation of the accommodation Plaintiffs had already deemed necessary, adjusted downward and structured to support family-appropriate, medically necessary housing so that Defendant can reach medical stability and be able to participate meaningfully in these proceedings.

Payment Structure:

Defendant requests that housing funds be disbursed through one of the following Court-approved mechanisms:

1. Direct payment to the landlord or property manager of Defendant's selected housing;
- OR
2. Deposit into the Court's registry for release toward housing expenses; OR
3. Payment to the trustee of Defendant's special needs trust

A controlled mechanism is appropriate because Defendant seeks only the ability to secure medically suitable housing promptly and avoid misuse or dispute over funds. (Ex. IR-7 ¶ 10)

Defendant does not request unrestricted cash payments. All funds would be used solely for housing and related necessities required to maintain medical stability.

B. One-Time Medical Equipment Replacement

Defendant respectfully requests that the Court order Plaintiffs to pay $20,000 directly to vendors or the special needs trust for medically necessary items removed or contaminated during Plaintiffs' September 22 removal:

- Three adjustable beds (Defendant + two children): $8,000-$13,000 (Ex. IR-4)
- Medical-grade air purifiers: $1,500 X 2-3 areas = $3,000-$4,500
- Heat/infrared therapy devices: $1,500-$2,500
- Pain Management Devices (TENS unit, braces, compression): $1,000
- Hypoallergenic bedding: $1,000

Dr. Huang's letter establishes medical necessity. (Ex. IR-1). Pre-contamination purchase records establish costs. (Ex. IR-4).

C. Scope of This Relief

This relief is temporary and interim only. It does NOT decide:

- Final liability
- Final damages
- Permanent housing arrangements
- Full scope of medical equipment needs
- Retaliation or bad faith claims

Those issues remain for trial. This motion seeks only to prevent irreversible harm while jurisdiction continues.

Defendant expressly reserves all claims for retroactive housing costs, per-diem displacement expenses, and related damages incurred since July 14, 2025, which are not waived and will be proven at trial

VIII. PRAYER

WHEREFORE, Defendant respectfully requests that this Court:

- A. ORDER Plaintiffs to fund interim housing in the amount of $18,000 per month, payable through a Court-approved controlled mechanism, pending final judgment or further order of the Court, as continuation of the substitute housing Plaintiffs previously provided after acknowledging the unit was unsafe for occupancy;
- B. ORDER Plaintiffs to pay $20,000 directly to vendors, the registry, or a special needs trust for one-time medical equipment replacement;

- C. WAIVE any bond requirement under Texas Rule of Civil Procedure 684, as Defendant is indigent and unable to post security, and Plaintiffs face no cognizable financial harm from continuation of housing payments they previously deemed necessary, and
- D. GRANT such other relief as the Court deems just.

Patient Name: Kathryn Copeland

Date: December 8, 2025

Provider Name & Credentials: Isabel Huang, M.D., Associate Professor in the Department of Physical Medicine and Rehabilitation at UT Southwestern.

Facility: UT Southwestern Medical Center 5303 Harry Hines Blvd, 5th Floor, Suite 101 Dallas, TX 75390

To Whom It May Concern, I am writing this statement in support of my patient, Kathryn Copeland, who has been under my care at UT Southwestern Medical Center since October 8, 2024, for the management of multiple severe chronic illnesses, including Hypermobility Ehlers-Danlos Syndrome (hEDS), Histamine overload, and Postural Orthostatic Tachycardia Syndrome (POTS). These conditions, significantly impair her daily functioning and her reported ability to participate in legal proceedings without accommodations.

Current Health Challenges Since my last statement on September 10, 2025, Ms. Copeland's health has continued to decline. On December 4, 2025, she attended a court hearing in person, and the physical strain and environmental exposure reportedly triggered a severe flare-up that has significantly worsened her symptoms of pain, weakness, and fatigue.

Reportedly per Ms. Copeland, she discovered in late October 2025 that a protocol issued on September 8, 2025, had declared all of her belongings contaminated with Chaetomium, a toxic mold. Despite her requests for this information to address her medical treatment needs, the protocol was concealed from her until late October. On September 22, 2025, all of Ms. Copeland's possessions, including essential medical supplies that had been helping her condition, were taken and handed over to unlicensed mold remediation personnel. These items have not been returned or cleaned, leaving Ms. Copeland without access to critical medical equipment and supplies necessary for managing her health and in the past has helped her condition.

Given her severe sensitivities to environmental triggers, including mold, it is my professional opinion that all of her contaminated belongings must be replaced to ensure her safety and prevent further health deterioration.

Ms. Copeland is currently reporting the following:

- Persistent fatigue and post-exertional malaise: Ms. Copeland is often bedridden for extended periods, unable to perform basic tasks or care for herself.
- Severe systemic inflammation: Chronic inflammation exacerbates her pain and fatigue, further impairing her ability to recover.
- Orthostatic intolerance, dizziness, tremors, and frequent migraines: These symptoms make it difficult for Ms. Copeland to sit or stand for extended periods, limiting her ability to attend court hearings or participate in legal proceedings.
- Neurological and sensory issues: Ms. Copeland experiences visual disturbances, light sensitivity, and cognitive dysfunction, including impaired memory, slowed processing, and executive dysfunction, which significantly impact her ability to focus and respond to legal matters.
- Severe gastrointestinal impairment: Ongoing nutritional instability and weight loss due to gastrointestinal distress further compromise her physical health and energy levels.
- Immune dysfunction and flare-ups: which can be noted with histamine overload

These episodes are characterized by systemic inflammation, fatigue, and gastrointestinal distress, leaving her unable to function for days at a time. I

The removal of her possessions, including essential medical supplies, on September 22, 2025, has left her without access to critical items necessary for managing her health. These items have not been returned or cleaned, and given Ms. Copeland's severe sensitivities to environmental triggers, including 3 mold, it is my professional opinion that all of her contaminated belongings must be replaced to ensure her safety and prevent further health deterioration.

Exposure to environmental triggers during court appearances, such as allergens, stress, and physical exertion, can significantly worsen Ms. Copeland's immunerelated symptoms as she reports that she is currently in a flare. These include histamine overload, systemic inflammation, and severe fatigue, which further compromise her health and ability to participate in legal proceedings. Without immediate accommodations, Ms. Copeland's health could continue to deteriorate, preventing her from recovering and participating effectively in her case.

Necessary Accommodations To stabilize Ms. Copeland's health and ensure her ability to participate in legal proceedings, I strongly recommend the following accommodations:

1. Remote Attendance: Ms. Copeland's severe physical limitations, immune dysfunction, and sensitivities to environmental triggers make attending court hearings in person difficult to manage. Remote attendance would allow her to participate without exposure to germs, allergens, and physical strain, which are known to exacerbate her symptoms.

2. Extended Deadlines: Due to the unpredictable nature of Ms. Copeland's flare-ups, extended time to respond to deadlines is essential. These flare-ups often leave her unable to function for days at a time, making it impossible for her to meet strict deadlines without accommodations.

3. Safe Housing: Ms. Copeland requires immediate access to safe housing that is clean and free from environmental triggers, such as mold and allergens. Stable housing is critical for her recovery and for resuming prescribed therapies and personal care services, which are essential for managing her health.

4. Replacement of Contaminated Belongings: Ms. Copeland's belongings, including essential medical supplies, were reportedly removed and given to unlicensed mold remediation personnel on September 22, 2025, and have not been returned or cleaned. Given her severe sensitivities to mold and other environmental triggers, it is my professional opinion that all contaminated belongings must be replaced to ensure her safety and prevent further health deterioration.

5. Access to Essential Items: Ms. Copeland requires access to specific items to manage her health and stabilize her condition, including: An air purifier to reduce exposure to allergens and irritants. An adjustable bed to support her joints and manage pain during extended periods of rest which she previously owned. Heat therapy and infrared therapy devices to alleviate chronic pain and improve circulation. Hydrotherapy equipment to manage joint pain and improve mobility. Meal assistance or access to meal delivery services to ensure proper nutrition during periods of fatigue and pain. These accommodations are medically necessary to stabilize Ms. Copeland's health, prevent further deterioration, and ensure her ability to participate effectively in legal proceedings. Thank you for your attention to this urgent matter.

Sincerely,
Isabel S Huang, MD

Powerful Winter Storm from the Upper Midwest into the Northeast; Severe Thunderstorms in the Midwest and Ohio Valley

A rapidly-intensifying storm is expected to bring heavy snow, blizzard conditions, and icing from the Upper Midwest through the Great Lakes and Northeast. Scattered severe thunderstorms may produce severe/damaging wind gusts and a couple of tornadoes across parts of the Midwest and lower Ohio Valley through the evening. Arctic air will expand across the central and southern U.S..

Good-faith conference correspondence re temporary housing + contents handling
(December 2, 2025)

Subject: December 12 Setting; Threshold Motions; Temporary Housing and Contents Handling
Date: Tuesday, December 2, 2025 at 3:46:49 PM Central Standard Time
From: Copeland, Katie <K.M.COPELAND@tcu.edu>
To: Glynis Zavarelli <gzavarelli@wandzlaw.com>, Michelle Sortor <msortor@wandzlaw.com>
Priority: High
Attachments: Congress Resource on FHA.pdf, JOINT STATEMENT OF THE DEPARTMENT OF HOUSING AND URBAN DEVELOPMENT AND THE DEPARTMENT OF JUSTICE REASONABLE ACCOMMODATIONS UNDER THE FAIR HOUSING ACT .pdf, img-8bba740c-e40d-4063-926b-ed4636edfa72

Ms. Zavarelli,

Thank you for following up.

I can confirm that December 12, 2025 works for me for a hearing on my Motion for Statutorily Required Accommodations Under the Texas Fair Housing Act and Request for Clarification of Rights, at the time Ms. James indicated. I will coordinate with her to ensure that motion is set on that date.

You noted that “if we can avoid the hearing” on your Motion for Entry of Scheduling Order, you would prefer to do so. I feel the same way about unnecessary hearings. From my perspective, there are two threshold matters that go directly to my ability to safely and effectively litigate this case:

1. Defendant’s Motion for Referral to the U.S. Department of Justice and Texas Attorney General for Pattern-or-Practice Civil Rights Violations; and
2. Defendant’s Motion for Appointment of Counsel.

If your client is willing to agree to entry of the proposed orders on those two motions, or to state that Plaintiffs do not oppose the relief requested, then I agree there would be no need for a separate evidentiary hearing on them and we can ask the Court to rule on submission.

If, on the other hand, your client intends to oppose referral and appointment of counsel, then I believe those matters need to be heard and decided before any scheduling order is entered. I am therefore not in a position to sign the Agreed Scheduling Order you circulated earlier today.

For context, I am attaching the HUD/DOJ Joint Statement on Reasonable Accommodations under the Fair Housing Act and related fair-housing materials I intend to rely on. These authorities make clear that housing providers must make reasonable accommodations in their policies and practices when necessary to afford a person with a disability an equal opportunity to use and enjoy a dwelling, and that refusals to accommodate can constitute continuing discriminatory housing practices. Given Weinstein’s size, in-house counsel, and public “Equal Housing Opportunity” representations, I assume your client is already familiar with these duties.

For ease of reference, here is a brief comparison of what should have happened versus what actually happened in my case:

STEP 1 – HAZARD CONFIRMED

What the law / best practice requires:

- Once a licensed mold assessor or inspector finds a unit unfit for human occupancy due to mold and moisture, the unit should be taken out of service.
- The landlord and its insurer should accept that the unit is unsafe and plan around that reality.

What actually happened:

- My unit was professionally deemed unfit for human occupancy.
- Weinstein and its insurer acknowledged serious issues, but instead of moving promptly to a clear, safe, disability-appropriate solution, they treated the situation as a temporary inconvenience and then cut off housing entirely on October 27, 2025, while contamination issues remained unresolved.

Why it matters:

- This set the stage for constructive eviction and for a disabled tenant to be left without any safe place to live.

STEP 2 – DISABILITY + ACCOMMODATION REQUEST

What the law / best practice requires:

- When a disabled tenant notifies a housing provider that the unit is unsafe for them and requests help, that request must be treated as a reasonable accommodation request under the Fair Housing Act and Texas Fair Housing Act.
- The provider should engage in an interactive process to identify a reasonable accommodation that allows the tenant an equal opportunity to use and enjoy housing.

What actually happened:

- I repeatedly informed Weinstein of my disabilities and the medical impact of the mold and provided supporting documentation.
- Instead of engaging in a meaningful interactive process, Weinstein moved toward non-renewal, litigation, and ultimately cutting off housing.

Why it matters:

- A request for safe housing in this context is not a “favor” – it is a request for a reasonable accommodation. Ignoring or resisting that request is an ongoing fair-housing problem, not just a lease issue.

STEP 3 – TEMPORARY HOUSING

What the law / best practice requires:

- When a unit is uninhabitable for a disabled tenant, a reasonable accommodation can include medically safe, ADA-compliant, comparable temporary housing (e.g., a furnished extended-stay arrangement that allows the tenant to lie flat, manage symptoms, have basic kitchen access, and accommodate children and assistance animals).
- Temporary housing should continue while the original unit remains unfit or until genuinely comparable housing is offered.

What actually happened:

- Tokio arranged temporary housing for a period, recognizing that my unit was not livable.
- On October 27, 2025, that housing was cut off even though the original unit remained unfit for human occupancy and remediation/contents issues were still unresolved.
- Since then, I have been effectively homeless, despite ongoing disability-related needs.

Why it matters:

- Cutting off housing midstream, while the original unit is still unsafe, is the opposite of a reasonable accommodation. It converts a partial attempt to comply into an ongoing failure to accommodate.

STEP 4 – CONTENTS AND MOLD COMPLIANCE

What the law / best practice requires:

- Mold protocols must be carried out by or under the supervision of properly licensed mold remediation professionals.
- A tenant’s belongings should be inventoried, triaged (salvageable vs. non-salvageable), and handled consistent with the protocol and state law, with clear communication to the tenant.

What actually happened:

- Most of my belongings were handed to Reign Restoration, which does not appear to hold a Texas mold remediation license, despite a protocol that requires licensed professionals.
- I have no complete inventory, no clear explanation of what has been done to my contents under the protocol, and no timeline for licensed compliance or safe retrieval/decision-making.

Why it matters:

- My property and evidence are at continuing risk of spoliation and mishandling, and the protocol your client relies on is not being followed in a way that complies with Texas law.

STEP 5 – USE OF THE COURTS

What the law / best practice requires:

- Courts should not be used as a vehicle to sidestep non-waivable statutory duties under the FHA, TFHA, ADA, § 504, or Texas Property Code.
- Requests for rent, possession, and scheduling should account for a landlord’s fair-housing obligations to a disabled tenant from an uninhabitable unit.

What actually happened:

- While these federal and state disability and fair-housing duties have been repeatedly raised, Plaintiffs continue to seek possession, rent, and a scheduling order as if this were a simple lease dispute.
- My motions for accommodations, referral to enforcement authorities, and appointment of counsel have not yet been addressed, while I remain without stable, medically appropriate housing.

Why it matters:

- It creates the risk that the Court will be used to enforce leverage that depends on ignoring fair-housing and disability obligations, rather than ensuring they are honored.

In light of Weinstein's size, in-house counsel, and public "Equal Housing Opportunity" representations, it is hard to reconcile my experience with the obligations outlined in the attached HUD/DOJ guidance. It gives the impression that a sophisticated landlord is using litigation and scheduling tactics to minimize housing and liability exposure, while treating its fair-housing and disability duties as optional.

Because my former unit was professionally deemed unfit for human occupancy and your client's insurer provided temporary housing until October 27, 2025, when that housing was cut off while remediation issues remained, I am again requesting that Weinstein provide medically safe, ADA-compliant, comparable temporary housing (for example, reasonable furnished hotel or extended-stay accommodations for 3 occupants and 2 dogs that meet my medical needs at no greater cost than a habitable unit would have been) pending the Court's ruling on my accommodations motion. If your client is willing to do so, I am open to discussing an agreed approach that could narrow or even resolve some of the issues set for December 12.

In addition, I need to address the status of my personal property and contents:

- As you know, most of my belongings are in the possession of Reign Restoration, which does not appear to hold a Texas mold remediation license, even though the protocol your client is using requires work to be performed or supervised by properly licensed professionals.
- Your client has known for some time that licensed professionals are required for mold-related remediation and contents handling, and TDLR's own materials confirm that unlicensed contractors cannot perform regulated mold remediation work.
- I still have no complete inventory of my contents, no clear explanation of what, if anything, has been done to my property under the protocol, and no timeline for when a licensed company will take over or when I will be allowed to make informed decisions about disposal, cleaning, or retrieval.

Given the ongoing risk of spoliation and the time-sensitive nature of mold and contents handling, please let me know, in writing:

1. Whether your client contends that Reign is authorized under Texas mold law to perform any of the tasks described in the protocol;
2. When your client intends to bring a properly licensed mold remediation company into compliance with the protocol as it relates to my contents; and
3. What the plan and timeline are for:
 - (a) providing me with a full inventory of my belongings,
 - (b) confirming which items your client concedes are non-salvageable, and
 - (c) allowing me access to or safe transfer of salvageable items handled in compliance with Texas law.

Because Ms. James asked me to confirm arrangements with the Court this afternoon, I would appreciate your client's position on these issues as soon as you are able.

Sincerely,

Katie Copeland

Ms. Copeland:

I am following up on the below; it almost 3:00 and I have not heard back from you on the December 12 date. If that date does not work for you – please advise as to the other dates that were provided by Ms. James yesterday, for the Court's availability and we will check our schedules here. Also - if we can avoid the hearing on the Motion for Entry of Scheduling Order – please let me know that and please sign and return the Agreed version I sent to you earlier today, and I will then submit for signature and entry).

Ms. Copeland:

We are not available on December 5; but are available on December 12.

We would also like to have heard our Motion for Entry of Scheduling Order heard on the December 12 date (see attached, filed yesterday) -unless you will agree to same; in which case – please sign the Agreed version (see attached) and return to me – and I will submit to the Court for signature and entry.

Please confirm that the December 12 date works for you for the hearing you have requested and the hearing I have requested herein.

Thanks –

Glynis

Importance: High

Dear Counsel,

Could you please let me know whether you're available on December 5, 2025 at 11:30 AM for a hearing on my Motion for Statutorily Required Accommodations?

I need to get the scheduling finalized this afternoon, so a response by 3:30 PM would be greatly appreciated.

Sincerely,

Katie Copeland

IN THE DISTRICT COURT OF

TARRANT COUNTY, TEXAS

141ST JUDICIAL DISTRICT

UNSWORN DECLARATION OF KATHRYN COPELAND (TCPRC §132.001)

My name is Kathryn Marie Copeland. My date of birth is June 28, 1985. My current address is 405 Crawford Street #2145, Fort Worth, Texas 76104. I declare under penalty of perjury that the following is true and correct:

1. I am the Defendant/Counter-Plaintiff in this case and have personal knowledge of the facts stated here.
2. Since July 14, 2025, I have been displaced from my apartment due to unsafe conditions and have not had stable, medically appropriate housing.
3. Plaintiffs funded hotel lodging through October 27, 2025, and then terminated housing assistance despite unresolved habitability and disability-accommodation issues.
4. On September 22, 2025, Plaintiffs' agents removed my belongings, including medically necessary equipment, without my knowledge, consent, or a court order, and those items have not been returned, cleaned, or replaced.
5. I have been under the care of Dr. Isabel Huang, M.D. at UT Southwestern since October 8, 2024, for management of hEDS, histamine overload, MCAS, and POTS.

6. Dr. Huang's December 21, 2025 letter states: "Without immediate accommodations, Ms. Copeland's health could continue to deteriorate, preventing her from recovering and participating effectively in her case."
7. Dr. Huang documented that my attendance at an in-person court hearing on December 4, 2025 reportedly triggered a severe flare-up worsening pain, weakness, and fatigue.
8. Expert designations are due January 9, 2026, and I cannot meet imminent litigation obligations without stable housing and basic medical supports.
9. A cold front with near-freezing temperatures and high winds is forecast in the Dallas–Fort Worth area beginning December 29, 2025. Cold exposure predictably worsens my symptoms and increases the risk of prolonged incapacity, making immediate climate-controlled housing urgent. (National Weather Service, Fort Worth/Dallas Forecast Office, issued Dec. 28, 2025; Ex. IR-5)
10. I have identified move-in-ready housing options that meet the minimum medical and functional requirements described in my motion, and housing suitability can be confirmed promptly once funding is authorized and disbursed through a controlled mechanism.

I declare under penalty of perjury that the foregoing is true and correct.

Executed in Tarrant County, State of Texas, on the 29th day of December 2025.

Respectfully Submitted,
